

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure relates to a system and method for facilitating sale of a network-enabled device. In one arrangement, the system and method pertain to receiving indication of an intent to sell the network-enabled device, and automatically
5 transmitting a request to a network-based sales service to post a sale notice that offers the network-enabled device for sale on a network.